To assist your approving manager/ethics official in determining if this event qualifies as a WAG, we have provided answers to several key questions.

1. How many anticipated attendees and from which sectors are they?

More than 3,000 invitations will be distributed to individuals from military, police (federal, provincial, local) corrections, wildlife & conservation, armed government services, public safety and security. We anticipate approx. 700 attendees with approximately 41% from Law Enforcement (federal, provincial, municipal), 33% from Canadian military, 11% from Government agencies, 5% from Corrections and 10% other groups such as EMS and Fire.

2. Is this event in the interest of the agency? Will it further agency operations and programs?

For over a decade, the purpose of Rampart Range Day has been to showcase and provide hands-on experience to end users, purchasers and program managers in the tactical community. Rampart Range Day differentiates itself from other similar events in Canada by focusing on several key elements:

Exclusivity: Our event is only open to active serving first responders and Military who operate in a tactical capacity.

Quality training and demonstrations: We offer open area training and workshops lead by our vendors and Rampart subject matter experts. Attendees get a unique opportunity to learn more about the practical application of the products while getting hands-on experience on the range or in an open demonstration area.

Active firing ranges: Many of our vendors will be running range bays to explain and let attendees try their products first-hand.

Diverse product line representation: For 2026, we are expecting over 70 vendors from around the world. Range Day brings in high-end and innovative brands not just from North America, but from Europe and beyond. Our event brings in these leading-edge specialty brands in an effort to provide unique exposures to our attendees.
